- Task group: server security *

Context

A major attack vector on web application servers are injections, like SLQ injections. Your developed web application must be protected against injections.

Task

Show with your code that injections on input fields and XHR calls are impossible.

Deliverables

- Update your ASVS excel sheet with your measures
- Show in your portfolio your application code with your protections

Done